"In series of its assistance to fight the pandemic, MCC will incur approximately 250,000 US dollars for the transportation of the directly needed vaccines to Afghanistan," the statement added.

Recent figures released by the Ministry of Public Health of Afganistan subsidiary of MCC, entered with the same amount for the operation of Ayak Project. Due to some technical issues, however, the project has not progressed as expected.

"As one of the largest investors in Afghanistan, MCC considers itself part of the Afghan society; hence, it will spare no effort to contribute to the social and economic development of Afghanistan."
