

VP Saleh says Pakistan housing Taliban leaders

Afghanistan First Vice President Abdul Wahid Habib has said that Pakistan is housing the Taliban group, stressing that the country can change to good friend of Afghanistan by cooperating the country's peace process.

Speaking at a news conference in Kabul, Habib said Pakistan will pay a big price for its continuing policy of supporting the Taliban group, which he said is endangering and accompanying the Taliban group. He also warned against First Vice President by pointing to recent acts of Afghanistan's delegation led by President Ghani in Washington has warned US officials have been misled of Pakistan's continued support to the Taliban group.

"Afghanistan is playing vital role in Afghanistan peace process and change a good friend of Afghan," Habib said, adding that Pakistan is supporting the Taliban group, endangering and accompanying the Taliban group. He also warned against First Vice President by pointing to recent acts of Afghanistan's has won't militarily the war and Pakistan will pay a big price for supporting the group. He also said that Pakistan is housing the Taliban group, endangering and accompanying the Taliban group. He also warned against First Vice President by pointing to recent acts of Afghanistan's Taliban trying to create atmosphere of war and peace to gain more points

KABUL: An expert on Afghan affairs, as quoted by First Vice President, has said that the Taliban is trying to gain the most points from the two main factions of the government in the country by escalating violence and creating a state of emergency in any form of the future political structure of that country.

Speaking in an interview with the Kabul Times, Habib said that the Taliban is trying to gain the most points from the two main factions of the government in the country by escalating violence and creating a state of emergency in any form of the future political structure of that country.

He said that the Taliban is trying to gain the most points from the two main factions of the government in the country by escalating violence and creating a state of emergency in any form of the future political structure of that country.

Taliban's unprecedented violence in Afghanistan

Although debate is continuing in national and international levels day by day, Afghanistan's southern provinces have recently witnessed heavy fighting between Afghan National Defense and Security Forces (ANDSF) and Taliban fighters. Afghan political experts and members of parliament believe that Taliban have intensified their attacks on the country's southern provinces, particularly Kandahar, Helmand, Faryab, Badkhash and Sar-e-Pul in recent weeks.

Beckwith, Taliban fighters have also intensified their attacks on Ghazni, Uruzgan, Zabul, Kandahar, Faryab and Helmand provinces. Taliban and armed opponent groups have always tried to increase strategic provinces; therefore, it is time for Afghanistan intelligence organs to make further efforts towards pooling their various plans.

One of the ways that can stop armed opponent groups from reaching their goals is the close cooperation and coordination between the country's defense and security organs, Afghan National Defense and Security Forces (ANDSF) have launched military operations with close air support from Afghan air forces in 11 provinces of the country to suppress Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban attacks on most provinces in the country's southern provinces, Taliban fighters have declared their support from ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppressing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is ongoing between ANDSF and Taliban in most provinces of the country. Afghan security forces have recognized a number of districts from the Taliban and are trying to make other progress in the country's northern provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups from reaching their goals is the close cooperation and coordination between the country's defense and security organs, Afghan National Defense and Security Forces (ANDSF) have launched military operations with close air support from Afghan air forces in 11 provinces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban attacks on most provinces in the country's southern provinces, Taliban fighters have declared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppressing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provinces of the country. Afghan security forces have recognized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are trying to make other progress

in the country's northern provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is the close cooperation and coordination between the country's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National Defense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Afghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is

the close cooperation and co-

ordination between the country's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National De-

fense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Af-

ghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is

the close cooperation and co-

ordination between the coun-

try's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National De-

fense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Af-

ghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is

the close cooperation and co-

ordination between the coun-

try's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National De-

fense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Af-

ghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is

the close cooperation and co-

ordination between the coun-

try's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National De-

fense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Af-

ghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is

the close cooperation and co-

ordination between the coun-

try's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National De-

fense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Af-

ghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is

the close cooperation and co-

ordination between the coun-

try's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National De-

fense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Af-

ghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups

from reaching their goals is

the close cooperation and co-

ordination between the coun-

try's defense and security or-

gans, Afghan National De-

fense and Security Forces

(ANDSF) have launched

military operations with

close air support from Af-

ghan air forces in 11 provin-

ces of the country to suppress

Taliban fighters.

Following surge in Taliban

attacks on most provinces in

the country's southern provin-

ces, Taliban fighters have de-

clared their support from

ANDSF and police has particular interest in suppress-

ing Taliban fighters. Currently, military fighting is

ongoing between ANDSF

and Taliban in most provin-

ces of the country. Afghan

security forces have recog-

nized a number of districts

from the Taliban and are

trying to make other progress

in the country's northern

provinces.

Some of the ways that can

stop armed opponent groups